Ashley my heart is so broken for you and your family. I will be praying for you and the boys. I love you so much. Your momma had a sweet soul and was a joy to be around the few times that I had the pleasure. She sure did love all of her babies. She is definitely without anymore pain. She is your Angel now. She is protected from all the evil of this old world. Walking down the streets of gold into the pearly gates of heaven with our savior. We love you all so much!

I love this video. Annabeth never had anything but a sweet face because she was all sweetness through and through. I want to watch this often to remind myself what an angel looks like.

“ When I moved to Texas, at the young age of 6, it was Annabeth's birthday. She was having a party to celebrate and came down and invited me... being the "new kid on the block"! We became instant friends! We grew up together making fun, wonderful memories. We lost contact for a while but reconnected and have been in touch ever since and even got together to catch up. It was like we never stopped talking, just picked up where we left off. I will always remember her as my first Texas friend, all the memories we shared and I loved seeing her love of family, kids, grandkids and just her love and zest for life. My thoughts and prayers are with each and every one of you that she touched and loved. She will be missed, that is for sure. May you all smile when you think of her and reminisce and laugh at all the memories you created. Nothing can take those away! Rest easy, my friend. Until we meet again.

“ It's taken a while to process the loss of my sister. She was the kindest person of all. As kids, we butted heads as kids will do. But as an adult Annabeth was nothing but warm and supportive and she only wanted everyone to be happy. It's actually a rare quality... but it's who she truly was. If you're reading this, you know EXACTLY what I'm talking about.

My heart goes out to anyone who knew her because we all lost of ray of light.

I love you, Annabeth.

“ My baby girl made friends wherever she went, loved everyone, was kind to everyone, helped them all. She expected nothing in return for her kindness. She suffered many hardships and bore them silently. I will always wonder why we were so blessed. She adored her husband. He made her so happy. I am grateful that the last 14 years were so happy. From now on I will try to live like Annabeth would have lived if she'd had the chance. She was a kind of "pay it forward" person. I love you, Annabeth, and I always will.

My beautiful niece, Annabeth, was a joy to be around. She was witty and wise. She and I spent a good bit of time online and through texts sharing recipes and talking about food preparation. She was so willing to share her expertise. She was a beautiful person. She loved people, and she knew how to connect with others. I think that the hardships she endured taught her to treat others in the precious, loving way she did. Annabeth will be missed by all who knew her and loved her. Certainly, all of her family miss her.

“ Our deepest sympathy to the Dugger family.

Annabeth was truly one of the nicest, most caring people I've ever known. Her love of family, friends and God were an inspiration to us all. She was an excellent cook and ever-willing to share her delicious recipes. I never eat a piece of buttermilk pie or sopapilla cheesecake without thinking of her. She was an extremely hard worker and a set the example for others to follow.

She would light up when telling stories of Steve, her Mom, her kids and grandkids, she loved y'all so much. I will miss you my good friend. Rest in Peace.

“ An angel on earth! A true servant of God. Annabeth was an amazing coworker, friend, sister, motherly role model and so much more. She helped me find God again. She was there for me when no one else was. She always checked on me, jokes with me, let me know she was always a call away. This world was definitely a better place with her in it and God sure took one of the best. She loved her family sooo much. Ashley, you were truly her pride and joy. She was so proud of you. I will truly miss you my sweet friend. I love you! Rest in Love and Peace!!

“ I will forever be thankful that I was blessed to know Annabeth, her smile lit up a room and her genuine love for others was so evident. We sat together in choir a few years back & she was always so upbeat & fun, I enjoyed each time I was able to spend time with her. There are no words to express the sadness in my heart that she was taken so soon but I have to accept the reality & know that God knew just what she needed (to be in His presence) I will continue to pray for all of the family and trust God to give each of you the peace & comfort that can only come from Him. Steve if there is anything we can do please let us know. Love & prayers to all those left to find a way to live & love again, Annabeth would want each of you to live your lives to the fullest everyday.

“ Where do I even begin. My mother was the best mother, friend, nanny, wife, daughter, sister. She was the most beautiful person I have ever known, inside and out. She has always been there for and never once judged me or disowned me for my mistakes. If anything, she got me through them and showed me how to be a strong woman. She was my best friend. I looked forward to our 6 o'clock phone call every day. I love you mommy, I'll miss you every day until I get to see you again. Rest easy my beautiful Angel.
