“ I worked with James for many years at M-E Fabrication until he decided to venture out and start his own business. I guess you could say we somewhat grew up together. He was the best TIG welder I ever worked with. The last time I saw James and talked to him was several years ago when he was going to come substitute teach for us at Kilgore College Advanced Welding Academy. I had just got all of his paperwork done but unfortunately due to budget cuts they cut our program out. I was truly looking forward to working with James again. My sincere condolences to Cindy and the rest of his family. May god bless you all.
