I have followed Joel on Facebook. I have been praying for him and his family for a long time. He is the most beautiful baby I have ever seen. Those beautiful eyes and the precious smile. You now have an angel in heaven all your own. Nomore suffering for Joel just freedom from all pain. You were given God's gift for a year how lucky for you. You will be with Joel again. In the mean time you have a special angel looking out for you. Love and prayers for your family.

“ I have followed Joel and his family on Facebook and prayed for his recovery. He was a little soldier fighting for his life. He endured so much pain trying to get better. His will was strong but his little body finally gave up. There will never be another smile like Joel's and those eyes that just made you smile.

I will pray for him always knowing he will be a little angel taking care of his parents and brothers.

May Joel rest in peace and continue to light up the skies with his smile.
