“ It is rare to have an ex anything that you can call a friend; however, Lanny, my ex-son-in-law was my friend. Even though he has been in bad health for years, he came and mowed my lawn, a chore that I am sure was exhausting and probably painful for him.

He knew I loved a chocolate layer dessert that he made so he made extras and brought to me.

He loved his children & grandchildren & great grandchildren. His great granddaughter, Audrey Rose, went through a stage where she preferred blondes when she was little, except for her mama; so Lanny wore a wig just so he could hold her.

My favorite funny story about Lanny: He had to check things out for himself, not believing so much in advertisements, etc. For this reason, while in a local store, he placed his fingers on a 'sticky' mouse trap, to see if it really worked & would hold a mouse. He found that indeed it worked, leaving him 'holding the mouse trap'.

Glad you are no longer in pain, Lanny. Love you!
