“Rosemary, I know you are looking down from heaven shining his light down to your kids, grandkids, and family. They will bathe in the light and memories of your time with them. I and the rest of the family will miss you dearly, but we know you have taken up residence with your Mom and Dad, Grandparents, as well as mine, Aunt Jo, Uncle Merce, Sam, Aunt Esther, Uncle Bill, Uncle Dan, and Danny. We Love and miss you all!”

“ I guess today it's really hitting me that my grandmother has passed away. And right now, I'm making vows to finish the blanket you never got to finish me... I won't change a thing on it. I'll leave it the way you had imagined it. I'll take care of your bell collection and cherish it with all I have in me.. I guess it's also hitting me that I won't be able to pick up the phone and call you when I need the ingredients to a recipe or when I just get lonely and want to talk.. I guess it's finally hitting me you'll never blow up my phone to just to tell me you love me and that I'm on your mind... But I promise you, I'll graduate college with my degree in FCS, and I'll make a fantastic mom one day who will be sure to tell her kids all about YOU. I'm just blessed you made it to see me graduate high school. I know that was a very BIG deal for you. You promised me you'd hang for a little while longer, and I guess it's ok that this was the ONLY promise you ever broke to me. But remember that dress I wore for graduation? I know you do because you told me you loved me in it, I'll be sure to wear it Saturday, just because I know it's your favorite and you always told me I looked good in those shoes. Thank you. For loving me, for giving me shelter when I needed it the most, and for being a beautiful wonderful soul that I was so Inspired by. Thank you for being my biggest fan and supporter, thank you for being the first one to meet my boyfriend (now husband) and not questioning my story just so I could have him sleep over... Thank you for listening to all the sappy love letters he sent me in basic, and thank you for letting me, at the age of 18, still curl up in your lap anytime I wanted to, just because. I know you'll never read this, but I just needed to say it all one last time. I love you.

“ I have some of the most wonderful memories of Aunt Rosemary. She was a great woman and I will miss her a lot. I didn't get to see her much these past few years, but I know that my wonderful cousins, Jack, Tina and Angey would pass on messages to her for me and vice versa. She is now up in Heaven with my father and they are sharing crazy Parson stories since they both married into the Parsons family. Love you tons, Aunt Rosemary.

My mother was an amazing woman, and I feel honored to have had her as my mother. It was privileged to have been her child, and to have so many photos of her in her final year. Mamma was always my hero, and taught me well. No matter what if you can not say anything nice don't say anything at all. She taught me how to cook, and sew. She never made me try to be something or someone I was not. She encouraged me to take life by the horns and roll with it. She loved everyone and was an angel when it came to dealing with other people. She loved my daughters and let one live with her. She is an amazing grandmother, daughter, sister, aunt, and wife. I find myself telling siri to call mommy. There was still so much yet to learn, but God needed a most amazing angel in his kingdom. She rocked Tabatha and Ambers world and will be greatly missed.

“ I had the privilege of visiting with RoseMary while she was in hospice. Even though she was in obvious discomfort she welcomed me with a smile on her face and thanked me for coming to see her. I can't help but think what a remarkable woman. She was the Essence of what a Mother is and should be and loved her children and grandchildren with all her heart. I know my children will miss her each and everyday but i know they are better for having had her in their lives. GOD bless you RoseMary, we will all miss you.
