“ Rigby, our hearts go out to you and all of your family in your time of loss. I remember the Cade family coming to our church when Thomas and his siblings were very just kids. It is hard to accept when someone so young passes from this life, but God has a plan for all of us. Our thoughts and prayers are with you.

“ Hello Cade family...Matthew Hazen here...a distant memory of the past. I'm saddened to hear about Thomas's passing. I'm sure many thoughts and words and prayers have been directed your way. Death really sucks! It's often sudden and shocking and well, it just sucks! Right?

I thought it best to share some memories that I hold dear in my special spot for Thomas, a unique place for him only in my heart. I met Thomas when he was only 5 or 6 years old. Very quickly, his boyish energy, curiosity and kindness captured me. I to felt the young boy in me when I was with him. At his tender young age, he reminded me that being a child and all that is beautiful about it is okay at any age. One day, Thomas took me on a trek, we journeyed out away from his home. We walked through the quiet, wooded area and came into the open pasture land where we eyed numerous, large rolled bales of hay. Thomas was immediately excited as he raced toward the giant lumps. He climbed atop them and he challenged me to join him and I did. Together, we jumped, we laughed and we played. It was special to me and very much still is, as I recall this impactful memory. Another one around the same time period was during a walk through the wooded area. We walked together, down a cut path similar to an electrical line path. Side by side, we were on another Thomas adventure. I obliged without hesitation. It was “pindrop ” quiet and suddenly we both heard the loud whooshing of air and wings above us. We quickly turned our heads upward and witnessed the largest owl I've ever seen. It's wingspan an easy 5 feet. It effortlessly glided over our heads determined to get somewhere. Thomas and I were without words, together having a big WOW moment.

As I'm writing these words, my heart tells me something.....Together is it, together is what's most important. I'm very grateful to have many memories together with Thomas. I know you all are to. He was very special and very loved. May God reveal Himself to you in this grieving time and remind you of His eternal, unmoving love. Much peace and mercy to you all, Matthew
