“ I remember Uncle Tom coming to visit often through out my life. He would hang out with my dad and tell us funny stories. I remember when one time he came to visit he brought with him a taxer. He wouldn't let me play with it for all my asking (I was 10 or so). He was a very compassionate uncle and offered to give me a "sample". I tried to get away under the kitchen table but he caught me and tased the back of my ankle. When I think of him, that is the first memory that comes to mind. 😊 I will always remember his easy going presence and his sense of humor. He was always great fun.

“ Tom was a great friend, he was a wonderful person that created his own climate wherever he went. I enjoyed his sense of humor, his ability to brighten up a situation. Most especially, I enjoyed his teasing, as I called him Dad, and he called me son. We were not biologically related (at least not in a close sense) but we were certainly kindred spirits, and we shared a lot of the same characteristics on subjects, people, and religion. To have known Tom has made life better for many, and I am proud to have called him dad. Thank you for sharing these past few years with me. RS
